excerpt from on drawing and painting in beginning the study of any art we must learn what materials and terms are properly used in it and what modes of expression then we ought to have some practice in using the materials and terms and exercises in the different modes following the example of the masters this is equally true whether we propose to practice the art as a profession or wish merely to understand and appreciate without some experience without some technical knowledge and practice our understanding is sure to be superficial and our appreciation limited it is interesting to remember the passage of aristotle in the politics 1 where he says it is difficult if not impossible for those who do not perform to be good judges of the performances of others they who are to be judges should also be performers if we have never been performers we deny this proposition in self defence but if we have ever practiced any art we know that we are better critics and better judges just for that reason aristotle does not say that it is impossible for any one to be a good judge who is not also a performer it is difficult he says if not impossible nor does he say that the performer is sure to understand he is simply more likely to understand than any one who has never been a performer we know very well how many performers there are who do not understand who have neither appreciation nor judgment and we are willing to admit that certain persons not many are good judges though they have had no technical training we may be sure however that they would be better judges if they had had some training about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works the book responds to the challenge of the global turn in the humanities from the perspective of art history a global art history it argues need not follow the logic of economic globalization nor seek to bring the entire world into its fold instead it draws on a theory of transculturation to explore key moments of an art history that can no longer be approached through a facile globalism how can art historical analysis theorize relationships of connectivity that have characterized cultures and regions across distances how can it meaningfully handle issues of commensurability or its absence among cultures by shifting the focus of enquiry to south asia the five meditations that make up this book seek to translate intellectual insights of experiences beyond euro america into globally intelligible analyses
